

Australian
National University

Australian
Centre for Federalism

ZOOM WEBINAR EVENT

Gender responsive budgeting and the financing of maternity care in the Australian federation: addressing gender equality including in emergencies and disasters

PROGRAM
Monday 29 April 6.00pm – 8.00pm (all times Australian Eastern Standard)
6:00pm	Introduction and webinar instructions Meeting Chair: Honorary Associate Professor Julie Smith, National Centre for Epidemiology and Population Health (NCEPH), Australian National University (ANU) Meeting Co-Chair: Ms Naomi Hull, WBTIAUS Coordinator
6:05pm	Opening remarks The Hon. Emma Hurst MLC, Chair of New South Wales Select Committee Select Committee on Birth Trauma
6:15pm	Follow the money: How funding moves from the federal government to maternity care services Charles Maskell-Knight PSM, Independent Health Policy Analyst, formerly Australian Department of Health
6:30pm	Gender-responsive budgeting for 'baby friendly' maternity care in a federal system Dr Monica Costa, Adelaide University
6:45pm	Adherence to WHO guidance on maternity care during the COVID emergency Adjunct Associate Professor Karleen Gribble, Western Sydney University
7:00pm	The social value of maintaining BFHI accreditation in Australia Dr Andini Pramono, NCEPH, ANU
7:15pm	Value and impact from funding arrangements in maternity care Professor Jenny Gamble, Coventry University, UK
7:30pm	A global practitioner's perspective on system priorities for maternity services and infant feeding support in emergencies and disasters Alessandro Iellamo, FHI 360, Jordan
7:45pm	Discussion (facilitated)
8:00pm	Closing remarks: What we have learned about resourcing and accountability for woman-centred care and Ten Steps/BFHI in the federal state financing system Professor Miranda Stewart, University of Melbourne and ANU
8:10pm	Close